Cradle Of Filth

"Alana K is by far the most logical and adaptable vocal coach I have ever worked with. Even after my first session with her I was able to make leaps and bounds with breaking some old habits and moving forward in the direction I wanted to go in with my voice, range, and technique. I am beyond confident she can help and train anyone no matter what their range, style, or background. She is even very knowledgeable in vocal health and illness management, which I find highly effective and is extremely appreciated sing a touring musician. I recommend her to anyone I know whether they be a beginning singer or someone who has been in the industry twenty plus years."
